Art Unit: 1755

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-24, drawn to a pigment and the method of making a pigment, classified in class 106, subclass 415.
- II. Claim 25, drawn to a paint, a powder coating, a paper coating, a plastic, a cosmetic, an ink, a food or a drug containing the pigment of claim 1, classified in multiple classes depending on composition. The cosmetic and drug are classified in class 424; the paper coating and ink are classified in class 106; the paint, powder coating and plastic are classified in class 524, food is classified in class 426.
- III. Claim 26, drawn to a security-enhanced document or article, classified in class 283, subclass 73.
- IV. Claim 27, drawn to a luminescent, phosphorescent or fluorescent composition, classified in class 252, subclass 301.16.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II, III and IV are all unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different functions.

Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the pigment need not be a pearlescent pigment that enhances the security of a document or an article. The subcombination has separate utility such as a pigment for automotive paints.

Inventions IV and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the pigment need not be luminescent, phosphorescent or fluorescent. The subcombination has separate utility such as a pigment for automotive paints.

Invention of the food or drug of Group II and Invention I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the pigment need not be non-toxic for ingestion. The subcombination has separate utility such as a pigment for automotive paints.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1755

If applicants elected group II, then applicants are required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed genus for prosecution on the merits to which the claim shall be restricted.

Claim 25 contains the following patentably distinct geneses: a plastic, a cosmetic, a food, a drug or a coating composition selected from the group consisting of a paint, a powder coating, a paper coating an ink.

If applicants elect the coating composition group, the plastic or the cosmetic; then groups I and II will be examined together.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the geneses are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the geneses to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Melissa Koslow whose telephone number is (571) 272-1371. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday from 8:00 AM to 3:30 PM.
